Experiment Teatru Clandestin

Coordinating country: Romania

4 participating countries

Participants: 5 + 1 group leader

Participants' ages: 18-25 years old

Activity dates: 05-11 September 2025
04 & 12 September 2025 travel days

Aim: Exploring the concept of active democracy and sustainable practices through creative and theatrical methods.

Young people will learn through experience how they can actively contribute to democratic life, while promoting ecological solutions and international collaboration.

Participants will immerse themselves in a creative and reflective journey exploring the core principles of democracy—from voter engagement and transparency in decision-making to the power of public opinion. Using non-formal education methods like theatre, visual arts, debates, and storytelling, the group will uncover and challenge the mysterious “X”—an unknown factor affecting democratic processes. Through interactive workshops, group activities, and intercultural collaboration, youth will build civic awareness, critical thinking, and the competence to become active citizens shaping more inclusive and resilient democracies of the future.

Participants will also explore the concept of sustainability, engage in eco-themed artistic projects, and design creative civic campaigns.

This youth exchange will foster intercultural dialogue, creative collaboration, and long-term impact through personal action plans and YouthPass recognition. Together, the participants will create a vibrant space of learning, empowerment, and transformation.
